

Mount Juliet Golf

ABSOLUTELY GORGEOUS

When Jack Nicklaus was asked to design and build the 18-hole signature course at Mount Juliet, he created one of Europe's most renowned courses. The outstanding parkland facility takes full advantage of the natural beauty of the estate, dominated by magnificent specimen trees and river scenery.

This testing par 72 course offers a most enjoyable golfing experience to players of all standards. Mount Juliet has hosted the Irish Open on three occasions and was the venue for the Shell Wonderful World of Golf event. At the WGC - American Express Championship 2002 at Mount Juliet, 49 of the top 50 golfers in the world took part, including overall winner, Tiger Woods. In 2004, Mount Juliet once again hosted the WGC - American Express Championship where on this occasion, Ernie Els was the deserving victor.

The unique 18-hole, par 53 putting course is the venue for the National Putting Championship with holes of up to 36 yards in length and featuring bunkers and water hazards. The resident PGA Professionals offer a complete range of tailor-made golf services including individual and group tuition, clinics and event management. Academy facilities include covered and uncovered driving bays, practice bunkers, chipping and putting greens and three full-size holes.

Staying at Mount Juliet

The main house is an architectural gem. Beyond the classical doorways, guests are shown into an impressive entrance hall, featuring elaborate plasterwork on walls and ceilings, paying tribute to eighteenth-century craftsmanship.

This feeling of period opulence is present in all the reception rooms. The bars recall a glorious equestrian past, while the relaxed décor of the drawing rooms provides an opportunity to unwind in total comfort.

There are 32 bedrooms in Mount Juliet House and many enjoy captivating views over the river and the paddocks of Ballylinch Stud. Additional accommodation is available at The Club House, which was created from the estate's original hunting stables. The 16 Club Rooms are both stylish and relaxed and enjoy direct access to the Spa and Leisure Centre. The 10 Rose Garden Lodges are spacious and contemporary 2 bedroom apartments offering complete privacy. Here guests can enjoy all of the privileges of a luxury hotel combined with the flexibility of a fully self catered lodge.
